

Rev. Owen Douglass Will Fill Baptist Pulpit, Describes Some Expansion Plans

The Rev. Owen Douglass will fill the pulpit left vacant by the resignation of the Rev. Andrew Duty, officers of the First Baptist Church of Watteria, announced this week.

A graduate of the University of Redlands, the Bible Institute of Los Angeles, and the Southern California Baptist Theological Seminary, he has served pastorates in Yuma and Globe, Ariz., and Bell, Calif. He has been active in youth camp work, and last year, was chairman of the camping program for the Conservative Baptists of Southern California. For five years he maintained a radio ministry in Arizona, the last two years including week-day broadcasts.

Mrs. Douglass holds a Redlands degree in Christian Education and plays the piano, organ, and vibra-harp. They have two sons, Bob, now attending the Bible Institute of Los Angeles, and Dave, a high school sophomore.

Plans for increased expansion—including a visitation program, youth activities, and more Sunday School rooms—were announced by the Rev. Douglass.

His topic Sunday morning at 11 will be the "Sufficiency of Christ" while the Rev. James Worthington, a missionary appointee, will bring the evening message.

New pastor of the First Baptist Church of Watteria is the Rev. Owen Douglass, who succeeds the Rev. Andrew Duty. He announced plans to expand the present activities of the church, including a visitation and youth program.

Church Planning New Classrooms

Because of increased Sunday School attendance, the building committee of the Church of Christ, 1217 Cravens Ave., Tuesday authorized the construction of four new classrooms.

Construction is slated to start Saturday. Most the labor will be on a voluntary basis by church members.

The new rooms will make it possible to improve the Bible study program and to add new classes, according to the Rev. Elmer Prout, pastor.

Science Lecture Set

Ralph Castle, former Pacific Coast advertising manager of the Christian Science Monitor, will discuss application of spiritual truths at the First Church of Christ Scientist, Broadway and Sapphirin, in Redondo Beach next Monday.

Plans to build a new Evangelical and Reformed Church to be known as the Seaside Community Church, at the corner of 230th and Ocean Ave., were announced this week by the Rev. Richard A. Miller, pastor.

Work was begun last week-end on a unit which will serve as a sanctuary until the final church can be constructed.

All work on the chapel will be done by members of the church, interested friends, and members of the Morningside Community Evangelical and Reformed Church of Inglewood.

A loan will be negotiated from the National Missions Board for the overall plant, which will be built unit by unit. The church has purchased a two-acre site at that location.

Although a relative newcomer to the west coast, the Evangelical and Reformed Church has many congregations in the Midwest and East, with more than a million members. It is 12th in size among the nation's denominations, and has nine churches in the Los Angeles area.

It is a merger of two older churches—the Evangelical and the Reformed—and for some years has been negotiating a merger with the Congregational Christian Church.

The church is a member of the World Council of Churches, the National Council of the Churches of Christ, the Los Angeles Church Federation, and the Southern California Council of Protestant Churches.

The location for the church was allocated by the Southern California Council, representing 15 denominations cooperating to represent Protestantism.

Beside the church school, various organized groups—a youth fellowship, young adult or married couples group, men's brotherhood—are planned, Rev. Miller said. A Ladies' Guild has been organized.

The group is now meeting in Rev. Miller's home at 5342 Sharynne Lane. Further information on the church can be obtained at FR 5-2922.

Mission Representative Will Address Baptists

The Rev. Howard Herbst, field representative of the Berean Mission, will be guest speaker at the 7:30 p.m. services at the South Bay Baptist Church, 4645 Sharynne Lane, the Rev. George F. Cain has announced.

He also will speak to 6:30 Christian Endeavor meetings, which are open to all. A film, "The Raising of Lazarus," will be shown at that time.

"Operation Judea" will be celebrated Sunday, with Rev. Cain speaking on "Our Judea." The object of the drive is to establish more New Testament churches in this area.

The choir will hold a pot-luck supper in the social hall at 6:30 Thursday, with an organizational meeting following.

Saturday will be a work day. Reservation for a young people's trip to the snow Saturday from 7 to 6 may be made by calling FR 5-5469. A charge of $2.25 will be made, and participants are asked to bring a sack lunch and dry clothing.

VETERAN MINISTER NEW HEAD

The new pastor at Seaside Community Church is the Rev. Richard A. Miller, a veteran of many years in the ministry, and former pastor of the First Evangelical and Reformed Church of Los Angeles.

A graduate of Eden Theological Seminary at Webster Groves, Mo., he has served at churches in North College Hill, O., St. Louis, Mo., and Idalia, Colo. He came to Los Angeles in 1952.

He has been in Torrance about a year, making plans for the new church.

He is a member of the National Missions Committee of the California Synod of the Church; president of the Board of Directors of the Evangelical Benevolent Assn. of California; a director of the Los Angeles Church Federation, and a member of the executive committee of the Southern California of Protestant Churches.
